WHAT WE DO

BRASS PLATING

This finishing is widely used for decorative applications also for improving mechanical properties. It gives deep luxurious finish and hence widely applied for ornamental, hand craft, art works, sculptures etc. Brass plating is being used in door hinges, handles, cloth hinges etc. because of its mechanical properties.

GOLD PLATING

This technique provides exact gold like appearance to products. It gives deep and luxurious finish to decorative products. In addition to this, gold plating provides exceptional corrosion protection since gold is least susceptible to oxidation, increased electrical conductivity, enhanced durability since gold provides excellent resistance against normal wear and tear which can lengthen the contacts' lifespan, excellent heat protection, least fretting degradation since gold is not susceptible to fretting and wear. Hence gold plating has wide application in electronics as well.

COPPER PLATING

In addition to its elegant appearance, copper plating has greater application in electronics industry. It provides superior protection against corrosion and improves conductivity of substances. Also it improves flexibility of materials.

NICKEL PLATING

This technique is being used to obtain decorative appearance especially silver finish, as well as enhancing mechanical properties like corrosion and wear resistance. It has wide application in automobile industries, kitchen equipments, Interior architectural and construction materials.

ANTIQUÉ FINISH

This finishing provides aged appearance which is trendier among decorative art works. We can offer many varieties in this category by combining different techniques. It completely depends on workmanship.

BLACK NICKEL FINISH

This finishing provides black chrome appearance. Black nickel is highly popular among bathroom accessories, automobile industries and interior decorations.
