Director Message

Fire protection was only restricted and limited to places that stood a high risk of catching fire. This was the time when I had a thought about what we can do to sustain, save and protect lives in the most effective style.

Then begins "ANJANMECH" with a completely unified service provider, we are able to offer our customers all the fire protecting systems they require under one roof, We believe that our success is largely due to our teamwork, dedication and passion for what we do. We realize we are in the service of fire and safety industry clubbed with a strong believes and values. These values extend to all of our relationships with customers, employees and business partners.

Thanks & Regards
