Golf Tower has clearly elevated our experience in the residential segment. In our first project at The Golf Tower, the design featured resin wall panels, mock columns, basalt and mosaic floor times and fibre optic lights decorating the ceiling. The installation of the resin panels demanded a high level of coordination and accuracy. At the same time, the height ceiling called for the erection of scaffolding to provide access for the ceiling works. Based on our experience, we helped taking the it to Dubai.

In the past, MY Décor LLC oversaw a project implementation in a standalone location that previously hosted a different brand, however, was structurally not equipped to cater to the needs of a fast-paced. The floor featured a very low ceiling, which created the need to coordinate MEP services and install AC system units. The subsequent need for a much higher power supply had to be approved and catered for by local authorities.

At the beginning of our journey with Noor Takaful Bank, which by now encompasses a network of more than 130 branches, MY Décor LLC played a huge part in translating the fixtures into the local market. Ensuring that the design concept was not compromised, MY Décor LLC ensured that the fixtures were compliant with local operational needs as well as appearing identical to the global brand's demands. With the bank's chain, stock management is key to guarantee the fixtures are all available as and when required. This is where our account management team plays a crucial role and communication and close collaboration with the client is key.

2019

Based on visits of different schools in UAE, MY Décor retail manufacturing team was able to translate the look and feel of the principal brand into the local market, taking material sourcing, logistics and specific tastes into consideration. The particular challenge of the furniture and displays is the "high-end" that supports delicate designs and complex curves. At the same time, the illumination required new processes based on a steep learning curve, allowing our team to expand their knowledge and creative ability.
