Storage Solution

At Stofix, we believe in taking a solution-based approach by understanding client's storage requirements. We like to take in consideration our clients storage capacity requirement, material needs, available space and future expansion options. We have been designing and providing storage solutions keeping in mind to optimize available storage space.

We understand the importance of using the most appropriate racking solution to utilize the cube to create maximum storage space, as well as minimizing distances that products travel, increasing pick rates and improving pick accuracy.

Selecting right type of racking system is very important whether it be in a single or double deep configuration, storage is to be done on pallets or loose cartons. Accessing a larger range of stock keeping units. First in First Out inventory management system, our team of experts will guide and assist you in achieving the optimum storage solutions.

Structural Mezzanine

Structural Mezzanine's are custom fabricated installation that utilizes overhead space and allows additional workspace to be constructed above the level of existing warehouse floor. Storage mezzanines are usually equipped with safety measures such as anti-slip flooring, mesh enclosures, sprinkler system, etc. to effectively meet HSE requirement. Structure finish options in Red or Grey Oxide, custom powder coating or paint.

Rack Mezzanine

Make better use of your existing space by building "up", not "out", Multi - Tier Racking System (Rack Supported Mezzanine) is practical way of utilizing vertical space in your existing facility. Mezzanine can be built from Pallet Racking System / Bolt Free Shelving / Slotted Angle Shelving / Long-Span Shelving system. Enable full working height of a building to be utilized to its maximum by doubling the surface area. It adds additional space to existing structures and is the cost-effective way of optimizing your existing space as all your fixed costs are already covered. While relocating current facility, multi-tier racking system can be easily dismantled and reused at new warehouse facility. Custom designed to suit specific requirements.
