TYPES OF PALLETS

Everyone who uses a pallet knows they need one, but may not know specifics about pallets. Something that we often encounter are questions revolving around block and stringer pallets.

The most important things to consider when deciding between the two are the weight load, if and where the products are being shipped, and what product is being placed on the pallet.

TYPES

- STRINGER PALLETS
- BLOCK PALLETS

STRINGER PALLETS

Stringers are the boards that are sandwiched between the top and bottom deck board.

These pallets are typically made out of 2x4's or 3x4's. Stringer pallets are typically made out of hardwood, and commonly used.

Additional stringers can be added to a pallet to increase its weight load capabilities. Though typically these stringer pallets are considered two way entry, customizations can be created to allow 4-way access as well.

BLOCK PALLETS

Block pallets are thicker, and typically are created using softwood. Receiving its name because of the thicker "blocks" present on the pallet vs stringer pallets.

There can be nine blocks found in a block pallet, with a solid wood block placed in each of the four corners. Block pallets can be designed with or without bottom deck boards.

Block pallet is a type of pallet with 9 blocks of solid wood placed in all four corners of the pallet. Typically, the dimensions of a block pallet are 100 x 120cm, and it can be lifted using forklift on any of the four sides. In comparison to stringer pallet, it is much stronger and more durable.

WOODEN CARGO BOX

Wooden Boxes are considered the best option for shipping purposes as they are solid, reliable, and durable, along with maximum protection. They give support and would not go under pressure throughout the shipping process, which makes it the best for transporting goods and supplies.

We offer wooden cargo boxes as per your examples and sizes. The containers or boxes have excellent strength since they are connected using screw nails and fasteners. This makes it conceivable to introduce in stature up to 8 levels.

We make sure that cargo forwarded in wooden Boxes are not subjected to external exposure, so that the products remain unaltered and damage-free.

We provide the best services throughout all the United Arab Emirates Dubai, Jabal Ali, UAE, Sharjah, Abudhabi.
